

Emma Waston the new face of Chanel

Contributed by Sarba Raj Bartaula
Thursday, 19 June 2008
Last Updated Thursday, 19 June 2008

Emma Watson will replace Keira Knightley as the new face of Chanel, when the latter's contract expires this summer, as WENN reports. She has signed a $6 million contract with chanel, a French fashion house.

Britain's The Mail reported on Sunday: "Emma has been slowly integrated into the Chanel brand. They have been dressing her for film premieres and parties over recent months to see if she is the right fit."

It was told "Once it became clear she is growing into a beautiful young woman and wears the Chanel brand so elegantly, they had to sign her up. "

Emma had been acting as Hermione Granger in the Harry Potter movies, since the first Harry Potter movie. Good luck Emma!